

League To Refuse
British Changes In
Mandate—Report

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

GENEVA—Zionist leaders who have talked with members of the Mandates Commission expressed the belief that the British White Paper, which came up for examination on Wednesday, had no chance of being approved by the commission in its present form. Many points in the document will definitely be declared incompatible with the mandate, Zionists asserted.

Discussion of the new British policy opened with the arrival of Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald. Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, did not come to Geneva for the hearings. The Agency is represented by Dr. Nahum Goldmann and Dr. Ben-Zion Mossinsohn. The Jewish Agency issued a statement expressing confidence in an impartial verdict by the commission.

May Ignore Decision

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain declined to commit the Government in advance to accept the Mandates Commission's findings on the new British policy, in a statement in the House of Commons and refused to promise to give Commons a chance to discuss the Commission's observations if unfavorable to the Government before its report was taken up by the League Council. Later, he conferred with Colonial Secretary MacDonald, who flew to Geneva to present the British case.

CATHOLICS ORGANIZE
TO STOP ANTI-SEMITISMP. H. Callahan Joins Committee To Fight
Coughlin And Bias

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Campaigns against anti-Semitism were launched this week by a group of Catholic leaders.

Recognizing that the growing anti-Semitism in the United States is a serious threat to the principles of democracy and of Christianity, and that some Catholics, too, have been deceived into taking part in this campaign of hate, a group of Catholics in New York has organized the Committee of Catholics to Fight Anti-Semitism. The committee lists among its membership a large number of Catholic clergy, educators, editors, artists, writers and labor leaders. The committee announces that it is now ready to go ahead with its work of combating anti-Semitism and will issue during the month of June a tabloid size paper that will endeavor to present Christian teachings against racial bigotry.

The original organizers of the committee are Philip Burnham, editor of Commonweal; William M. Callahan, managing editor of The Catholic Worker; William M. Canning, Emmanuel Chapman, acting executive secretary; Dorothy Day, editor of The Catholic Worker; Charles Donahue, Harry McNeill, Robert Pollock, Daniel J. Sullivan and Harry Sylvester, short story writer. About seventy prominent persons have since joined, including John Brophy, C. I. O. director; Barry Byrne, architect; Colonel P. H. Callahan of Louisville; Rev. Martin Carrabine, S. J., Chicago.

The purpose of the committee, as outlined in the call, is, in the light of the recent bishops' condemnation of anti-Semitism, "to oppose the dangerous aberration of anti-Semitism in the fullness of Christian charity" and "to popularize genuine teaching among our Catholic people in all walks of life by means of leaflets, pamphlets, newsletters, radio broadcasts, educational programs and a speakers' bureau." Also the committee "aims to reach primarily those who contrary to the teachings of Christianity and the principles of democracy are taking part, unfortunately, in spreading race hatred and minority hatreds in the United States. The approach will be positive and dignified and no personal attacks will be made on anyone. Nevertheless, the committee will act vigorously and will face squarely all issues.

The second pamphlet in its Christian Democracy Series has just been issued by the Social Action Department, National Catholic Welfare Conference. The pamphlet, entitled "American Democracy vs. Racism, Communism," written by Magr. John A. Ryan and published by the Paulist Press, points out the in-

Coughlinites Knife
Jewish Teacher

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—A Jewish school teacher, Samuel Applebaum, received a knife wound in the leg requiring treatment in a clash between supporters of Father Coughlin selling copies of Social Justice and vendors of an anti-Coughlin pamphlet. Applebaum became embroiled when he resented anti-Semitic remarks made by speakers. Police reserves were called to break up the clash. A second fight occurred after the police had left, but was quickly broken up.

Italy Reports Spain
Fears "Hostile Judaism"

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

ROME—Spanish Interior Minister Ramon Serrano Suner was quoted by the official Italian news agency as declaring that Spain, feeling herself "encircled" by "hostile Judaism," intends to stand by the Rome-Berlin axis despite the friendly gestures by Britain and France. He said, "The Spanish people is conscious of its duties and is determined to make all the efforts and undergo all the privations necessary to shatter, as it did in the war, all the 'iron hoops' with which

James Speyer Retires,
Ends Firm's Career

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Retirement of James Speyer, a noted banker, to devote all his time to philanthropic and other affairs was announced this week. His retirement, at 78, will bring to an end the firm of James Speyer and Company, of which he is the senior partner. REFUGEE BODY REORGANIZATION BEGUN

To Coordinate U. S. Work Into One Huge Body

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—Reorganization of the National Coordinating Committee for Refugees into a broad and centralized National Refugee Service, Inc., has been undertaken in order to deal with the growing and increasingly complex refugee problem.

Revamping of the committee, which was founded in 1934, from a coordinating into a functional agency, dealing with refugees regardless of origin, is generally following the lines of a program drawn up by Harry Greenstein, executive director of the Associated Jewish Charities of Baltimore, who last month completed a study of the functioning of the committee and its affiliated agencies undertaken at the request of the committee's board of directors. The reorganization, now in its initial stages, is being carried out as a gradual process requiring several months, with details of the plan modified as experience dictates.

Dr. William Haber, who was professor of economics at the University of Michigan and formerly emergency relief administrator for the state of Michigan, has been chosen for the key post of executive director of the projected National Refugee Service, Inc. He is "the chief administrative officer with broad authority to implement the work of the organization with such administrative procedures as may appear necessary."

Under the Greenstein plan there will be eight centralized departments, whose heads will be responsible to the executive director. Over the executive director will be an executive committee, functioning with the aid of a Consultative Refugee Council, which will comprise non-Jewish groups. Above the executive committee and at the top of the structure will be a "truly national" board of directors. The eight departments are as follows: (a) Immigration, (b) resettlement, (c) employment, (d) special categories, (e) relief and case work, (f) information and research, (g) comptroller, (h) central office management.

Summarizing the study in the current issue of Notes and News, organ of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds, Greenstein declares: "No one can examine the present method of operation without being immediately conscious of the fact that the present organizational structure is not geared to the effective administration of a program which for the year 1939 may involve the expenditure of $2,500,000 or more. When the National Coordinating Committee was set up, it was impossible to foresee the extent and complexity of the refugee program—its growth in volume and its implications not only in New York but throughout the country."

Zionism Harms U. S. Jews

Craig Sees Moseley As Menace To Army

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—General Malin Craig, chief of staff of the United States Army, and other high army officers regard Major-Gen. George Van Horn Moseley (retired) "only as a menace to the prestige of the service," declared Kenneth G. Crawford, in an article, "Moseley Loses His Horse," in the current issue of The Nation. The Washington correspondent revealed that prior to Moseley's appearance before the Dies Committee on un-American Activities an emissary in the service had been sent to him to suggest that "he hold his irresponsible tongue in the interest of preserving the dignity of the army. When this failed the War Department considered disciplinary measures, but was dissuaded from acting by President Roosevelt himself. The attitude of the army toward the whole affair has been reassuring."

Moseley was revealed by the Council Against Intolerance in America as having been marked out by the Nazi authorities as an ally and supporter. In the current number of World Service (Welt Dienst), Nazi anti-Semitic news service issued in Erfurt, a special dispatch from New York pays tribute to Moseley and expresses the hope that "he will succeed in opening the eyes of all Americans."

Rip Van Winkle Sleeps Again For World's Fair; But This Time Spot Is Andron's Kosher Resort

WORLD'S FAIR, N. Y.—The New York World's Fair Thursday played host to Rip Van Winkle, "reawakened" after his long sleep to see the World of Tomorrow, but it was a "kosher" Rip Van Winkle. The awakening of the famous legendary character, immortalized in Washington Irving's story, was re-enacted on the same spot where he was supposed to have slept for twenty years in the eighteenth century—Rip's Rock, near the historic

French Catholics Say Vienna Is Bitter To Regime of Nazis

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
PARIS—Seventy per cent of Vienna's 1,900,000 residents would prefer any government to the Nazi regime, La Croix, French Catholic organ, reported.

An article entitled, "In Conquered Vienna," said in part: "First of all the cost of living is keenly resented. The living index is double what it is in France. In private homes there is shortage of everything. Inhabitants of Vienna receive 10 grams (less than one-half ounce) of butter a day. The butcher shops have no meat. When women formed a line before a police wagon and fined two marks each for having lowered the prestige of the country and helped enemy propaganda."

"Material discontent is only one aspect of latent revolt. The Viennese, who are shrewder than the Germans, are bored with the bugbear of war. There are revolting cases of injustice. Former army officers, knights of the Order of Maria Theresa, are dying of hunger, while many a young Nazi becomes the owner of two or three factories taken from the Jews."

"Sometimes pent-up anger is given free rein, though no one wants to go to the concentration camp at Dachau. But there has been fighting in the streets, and for about two weeks German army officers have had orders not to go out in uniform."

Says Ignore Limits

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—Col. Josiah Wedgewood, Laborite M. P., told a meeting of the Anglo-Palestine Club that Palestine Jews would not be doing their duty unless they "make illegal immigration possible and in the end make it legal." He said that if Tel Aviv's 150,000 Jews wanted a ship in its harbor to land its cargo "no power on earth could stop them."

Britain Needs Farmers; To Take 1,500 Refugees

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—About 1,500 refugees will be admitted to Great Britain for training or employment in agriculture, pending re-emigration, Major Sir Reginald Hugh Dorman-Smith, Agriculture Minister, told the House of Commons.

"On the recommendations of the agricultural subcommittee of the Co-ordinating Committee for Refugees, my right honorable friend, the Secretary of State for the Home Department (Sir Samuel Hoare) has agreed to raise no objection to the admission of 1,500 refugees for training or employment, or both, in agriculture in this country, pending eventual re-emigration," the Agriculture Minister said. "The question of temporary admission of a further number of refugees for agricultural employment to meet the present shortage of agricultural labor is at present under consideration by the agricultural subcommittee of the Co-ordinating Committee for Refugees, and any recommendations they make will receive consideration."

During question time, Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald disclosed that he had asked governors of colonies other than those which had been asked to study possibilities of receiving Jewish colonists to give sympathetic consideration to all individual requests from Jewish refugees for residence permits.

Up to March 31, more than 2,000 Jewish refugees received temporary or permanent residence permits in various parts of Britain's Colonial Empire, he said.

Catholic Layman Flays Coughlin On Station WHIP

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
CHICAGO—Father Charles E. Coughlin "is not entitled to speak as a priest . . . or to receive any immunities as a clergyman," declared John A. Lapp, prominent Catholic layman, in a radio address, "for a Christian church which would be responsible for the recent speeches of Father Coughlin would be unworthy of its founder."

Lapp, former chairman of the National Bituminous Coal Labor Board, spoke over Station WHIP, which was once Father Coughlin's Chicago outlet. He asserted that Coughlin has a hero in Nazi Germany and a man who used anti-Semitic speeches by Goebbels, "deserves the loss of the moral respect of all right-minded citizens."

Miss Evelyn Goldsmith spent several days visiting her aunt, Mrs. Morris Kaminsky, in Chicago.

It's kind of hard getting back to the ol' grind but woik is woik an you can't get anyplace by smelling flowers all day in the manner of Ferdinand the Bull, so let's start the ball rollin'.

While in Chicago, we had the good fortune to see the famous New York Yankees in action and as if that wasn't enough of a treat, sitting directly in front of us was Tony Martin, he of the movies. No fooling, ladies, he's one handsome egg, and a member of the tribe, too!

Also bumped into Edith Chasman in one of the leading department stores. She's there on a visit.

After attending the picture, "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," at the Circle Theater one night, a group of persons, none of them Jewish, were standing under the marquee deciding on a place to go to grab a late snack. One of the male members suggested Weiss' Delicatessen. No sooner did the words pop out of his mouth when one of the women said, "I'll be darned if I'll go in there, not after seeing that picture. Why, I wouldn't trade or have anything to do with the Germans now or 100 years from now." Evidently, she did not know that Mr. Weiss is a true son of Palestine.

KEMPLER RADIO CO.:

Say, do you like mysteries? Do you like something amusing yet amazing? Well, you ought to amble over to KEMPLER'S and get a look at their Zenith and Philco mystery players. All you have to do is plug it into a light socket, turn on your own radio, and presto! it plays. The beautiful strains of "Our Love," "Heaven Can Wait," "East Side of Heaven" and other tunes come melodiously forth from your radio, no matter where the mystery player is stationed. The records I mentioned, plus all the latest tunes, can be had at KEMPLER'S for only three for one buckaroo. I'll tell you, they make the old feel young and the young feel happy!

Rabbi Charry bought his little son a set of records containing all the songs in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" at Kempler's, and from all reports, they are BOTH enjoying them very much.

INDIANA FUR CO.:

Stupendous, gigantic, colossal! That's the venacular of the motion picture producer's colony. But, boy, oh boy, how well they describe the fur coats and fur styles to be had at the INDIANA FUR CO. It's very hard to believe, but still it is true, that the Davidson Bros. have over a thousand 1940 styles to choose from. Well, was I wrong? Did I exaggerate when I said that it is stupendous, gigantic and super-colossal? Why don't you bring your old coat down and have one of their very efficient salespersons examine it, show you a style that would best suit your personality, and then astound you with the low price for changing your coat from an alley cat to a Persian kitty?

HILLMAN'S:

The other day an idea struck my fancy and I began to wonder just how I'd feel if I saw a very lovely costume in the window of of a funny, dark, dingy store that I'd never seen before—and when I went in side to inquire if I might examine the garment more closely, the proprietor would come forward in a rather slipshod manner and look at me skeptically before he decided what price to quote. I wonder if that garment, as lovely as it might be, would still hold that certain sense of value to me under such surroundings? Would I not always feel that my confidence had been miserably cheated? Even though it might not be necessarily true? I could never wear that outfit and hold my head high with a sense of complete satisfaction. That's why I always feel so wonderfully proud when I buy my clothes at HILLMAN'S, because that HILLMAN label signifies a shop of prestige, high type and always above reproach at all times. The perfect atmosphere in which to select my clothes with dignity and pride. Confidence, trust, satisfaction always—that's HILLMAN'S.

the Union of American Hebrew congregations, once held holiday and bi-weekly pulpits in Kokomo.

Did you know that Jacob Mueller was the first Scout Master of Troop 50 which is holding its twenty-fifth anniversary celebration this Tuesday at the Communal building?

Mr. Green, of the Green Fur Company, returning home last Friday from a trip to New York, had an interesting story to tell. While there, he attended the World's Fair and, of course, headed straight for the Palestine building. As a part of the exhibit, a moving picture was shown depicting the work and activities of our people in the land of our fathers. During the showing of one scene, he looked, but at first didn't believe his eyes. On the screen, appeared his sister's sons who along with about eighty more of his relatives, resides in Palestine!

A fine crowd had a swell time at the Phi B. D. and Tep rush dance which was held at the Severin last week-end. Some of the whirling dervishes included Phyllis and Milton Singer, Mutty Weinstein and Rae Leah Binzer, Louise and Leo Cohen, Evalyn Goldsmith and Dave Cohen, Sarah Schuchman and Ben Katz, Sam Klezmer and his wife, Fay, Harry Einstandig and Rosalie Levinson, Gabe Schuchman, Joe Fogle, Senator Weiss and his wife, Al Dinas, Sam Fox, Jack Schaffner, Lilly Mae Smith, Evalyn Stein, Annabelle and Hy Schultz, and gobs of others.

Wish I was in Marv Markowitz' boots. He got to go to the Baer-Nova fight in New York. On the afternoon of the Indianapolis 500 mile race, Syd Davidson arrived home at about 4 p. m., 'way after the race was over, and found that a friend of his had left two $10 seats and two general admission tickets for his use. The tickets were left early in the morning and no one telephoned Syd to let him know that the ducats were ready and waiting for him! Oh me, oh my!

Saw Estelle Maurer out walking Wednesday and looking mighty chipper, too. You know, she had a little addition recently and it was my good fortune to say "hi" on her first day out. Who does the baby look like, Estelle?

Josh Fineberg is driving around a new Plymouth he purchased from Bill Miller. And how so many of the young bachelors envy Josh—oh no, not for the new automobile. Meyer B. Cohen worked late Monday night, until 2 p. m. Tuesday morning. He was getting everything in ship-shape so he could leave that morning for Lake Wawasee where the prescription compounders were having an all-day convention. But alas, such was not to be. Some bad evil-doers, intent on robbing Meyer B. of his worldly goods and his day off, broke into the front door, stopped at the whiskey and cigarette counters long enough to cart off about $400 worth and then continued on to the back door through which they went their way. Did you ever stop to talk to Saul Munter on the street? Of course, it's no conversation. But you do meet lots and lots of people. Saul knows everybody in Indianapolis and they all stop to shake hands and hear one of Saul's jokes. Then you go on with the conversation (fishing comes in eventually) and until another interruption, and so on, until you give up until another time.

1939 Immigration Nears '38 Total As Immigrants Seized

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
JERUSALEM—The authorities seized 200 Jewish illegal immigrants who had been landed at Naharia by a Greek schooner. The schooner was apprehended, its crew arrested, and, together with the immigrants, taken to Haifa. Jewish immigration to Palestine in the five months ended May 31 totaled 10,466, it was announced, as compared with 12,868 for all of 1938. A total of 906 who entered illegally during May by way of ships which landed them along the Palestine coast will be deducted from the regular immigration quota.

Rabbi and Mrs. Elias Charry and family plan to leave next week for New York City and vicinity, where they will spend several weeks. While in New York, Rabbi Charry will attend the Zionist convention, June 24-28.

Refugees Crowd Black Sea Ports

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
BUCHAREST—Headed for an unknown destination, the steamer Mamara sailed from the Black Sea port of Mangalia with 500 Jewish refugees from Germany on board. The ship, flying the Panamanian flag, was believed aiming to disembark the passengers somewhere on the African coast or in Palestine.

Meanwhile, the Greek steamer Aghios Nicolaos was prevented at the last minute from leaving the Black Sea port of Balcio with 552 refugees, including 152 Jews who were said to have escaped from the Dachau concentration camp and had been waiting at Constanza for three months for a chance to leave this country. All were sent back to Constanza.

An estimated 1,300 refugees were said to be packed on three river boats between the ports of Tulcea and Sulina, awaiting permission to continue the trip down the Danube to the Black Sea. Most of the refugees were believed destined for Shanghai.

Panama Admits 68
By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—The Joint Distribution Committee announced that a temporary haven had been found for the 68 refugees on the British steamship Orduna, who, like the St. Louis passengers had been barred from Cuba. These refugees, who have since been transferred to the steamship Orbita, were admitted to Panama, 45 to be maintained for the next three months on their own funds and the remaining 23 on guarantees by the J. D. C. Rabbi Nathan Witkin acted for the J. D. C. in Panama.

LA PAZ, Bolivia—The Immigration Department has decided to permit entry of 520 Jewish refugees aboard the British liner Orduna and the Italian Orazio. They landed at Arica, Chile, where they were given hospitality by kindly Chilean families pending their departure for Bolivia.

Paraguay Relents
By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
BUENOS AIRES—Twenty-day landing permits have been granted to seventy-eight Jewish refugees on the German liner Monte Olivia. The refugees, who had originally been refused permission to land when the Paraguayan Government indicated they would refuse to admit them, are now expected to be admitted to Paraguay.

Settle in South Africa
By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
DURBAN, South Africa—Ten refugees have arrived here to establish a new settlement in the Matabeland, southwest of Selukwe. Five more are expected within the next few weeks. Work has been started on four farms, with cotton, maize, soya and citrus fruits included among the crops. The land has been leased from the Bechuanaland Exploitation Company.

Message From F.D.R. Opens Reform Rabbis' Annual Convention

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
WASHINGTON—The Central Conference of American Rabbis, opening its fiftieth anniversary convention, applauded a message from President Roosevelt reaffirming America's faith in "complete liberty of conscience" and heard a proposal of its president, Rabbi Max C. Currick, for a Jewish religious front in America. Some 400 Reform rabbis gathered at the Hotel Mayflower for the first of the sessions, which will last five days.

President Roosevelt's message follows: "I have learned with interest that the general theme of the Central Conference of American Rabbis to be held in Washington next month will be Judaism and democracy with emphasis on the need of religious motivation in democracy for America and the world. In the conflict of principles which rends many sections of the world today, the United States stands ready at all times to renew its faith in the principle of complete liberty of conscience. This principle is embodied in our Constitution and has been ingrained in our every being from our beginnings as a nation. We as Americans could tolerate no way of life which attempted to curtail liberty of thought, of conscience, of the press or complete freedom in education."

"In a message to the Congress last January, I took occasion to declare that: 'Where freedom of religion has been attacked, the attack has come from sources opposed to democracy. Where democracy has been overthrown, the spirit of free worship has disappeared. And where religion and democracy have vanished, good faith and reason in international affairs have given way to strident ambition and brute force.' In extending hearty greetings to your conference I desire also to express the hope that its deliberations will be fruitful of wise counsel and constructive action in the defense of the heritage of democracy on which all of our happiness rests."

In his presidential message, Rabbi Currick recommended that a special committee be appointed to report to the October meeting of the executive board on the possibility of forming a Jewish religious front. The General Jewish Council, he said, is not completely representative of Jewish life. "The synagogue in its three branches, comprising the largest group of Jews in the land and, the characteristic groups, because they are united for religious purposes, still is not represented in the council," he declared.

Other proposals in Rabbi Currick's address, indicating probable action by the convention, were:

(1) Sending messages to President Roosevelt and members of the Congress, urging continued investigation of subversive movements in this country;

(2) A protest to the British Government, through the State Department, against "the faithless solution of the Palestine problem" and a plea that Britain "shall finally not renounce its word pledged not only to the Jewish people, but also to others nations";

(3) A message of appreciation to President Roosevelt for "his statesmanly vision and clarity of utterance in defense of human freedom, equality and democracy everywhere";

(4) An appropriation for the Refugee Ministers' Committee to

Systematic Burning of Shuls Reported

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—Synagogues are being put to the torch almost every other day throughout the German protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia, according to reliable advices. The latest case occurred in Zabrekon-Oder, in Moravia, where Nazi storm troopers broke into the synagogue late in the evening, poured petrol over the benches and the Ark of the Covenant, defiled the Holy Scrolls and threw them into the flames.

A similar procedure is being repeated throughout the protectorate, although official announcements afterward declare the cause of the fire unknown. Fire brigades that arrive well after the blaze is under way are under strict orders not to extinguish it but to confine their efforts to preventing its spread. Reinforced guards have been posted around Prague synagogues, where the services are ended before nightfall, even on Fridays.

Between You and Me—

by PAUL A. PETERS

HEALTH: The newshounds who covered official dedication of the Palestine Pavilion at the World's Fair are still recuperating from sun stroke. . . . The 100,000 Jews who filled the Court of Peace invaded the press section, leaving the reporters to mill around on the platform with the celebs. . . . A woman who fainted from the heat in the Pavilion got a free taste of real Eretz Israel orange juice. . . . When an excited attendant grabbed one of the exhibit oranges and squeezed it over her face. . . . Hero of the day was Dr. Solomon Goldman, ZOA prexy who presided over the dedication. . . . He worked wonders in soothing the heat-frayed tempers of Trying to control the huge crowd which besieged the Pavilion for admission, he stood up before the thousands and asked them to stand back. . . . They pushed closer, asking for his autograph. . . . In the excitement, the Pavilion's hardworking publicity crew sent out a release describing Mayor LaGuardia as the first non-Jew to become an honorary citizen of Tel Aviv. . . . Forgetting Lord Allenby, Lord Balfour, Arturo Toscanini and Thomas Masaryk. . . . Prominent in the newsreel shots of the ceremonies was JTA's Danny Schorr, who wouldn't be balked by lack of press seats. . . . He is shown standing next to the platform, hatless and tieless, looking down the speakers' gullets to record their words for posterity.

POPULATION NOTE: The Jewish population of Palestine recently had a notable increase. . . . In the person of a thumping big baby boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Roman Slobodin. . . . Roman now covers Palestine for the JTA with an added spring in his normally springy, space-eating step. . . . Dr. Judah L. Magnes acted as sandek (godfather).

TOPICAL NOTE: A topical little volume, what with ships of hope and despair plying the seven seas with their cargoes of refugees in hunt for a haven, is the one just put out by the Jewish Publication Society. . . . Titled "Ship of Hope," translated by Felix N. Gerson from the German of Ruben Rothgier, the book tells the poignant, haunting saga of 100 refugee lads of the Spanish Inquisition era.

PATRIOTISM: That nation-wide series of newspaper ads on Flag Day, sponsored by the Jewish War Vets and reminding Americans of the Jews' patriotism, cost about $25,000, was put up by a group of private citizens.

LITRY NOTES: Remind yourself to read "Why Hate the Jews?", a sharp stab at the buggy bigots by Struthers Burt in the June issue of The Forum. . . . Viking Press this fall will publish "The Bible of the World," which in 600,000 words will contain significant portions of the holy books of Hinduism, Modammedanism, Buddhism, Zoroastrianism, Confucianism, Taoism, Judaism and Christianity. . . . What's this, another boycott of Nazism? . . . Distinctly worth examining is Emil Ludwig's biography of Hitler, in pix with captions, in Look magazine.

MISH-MASH: Meyer Steinglass, public relations director of the United Jewish Appeal, is studying a totally different type of relations. . . . Marriage relations. . . . Mike got married last Sunday and is "studying" down in Bermuda, that good old honeymoon isle. The only person offended by the bacon and pork sausages served at a recent Jewish Agency press conference in London was the Moslem-Irishman correspondent of a large Arab daily. . . . Distinguished visitors to the JTA offices and the World's Fair: H. L. Meites and son, Leonard. . . . H. L., who is Superintendent of Water in Chicago and publisher of the Chicago Jewish Chronicle, follows art as a hobby. . . . His interest at the moment is in plaster statuettes of Jewish types. . . . The London Times recently hinted that the Japanese cruiser which created an international incident by halting the P. and O. liner, Raipura, was after our old pal, General Morris ("Two Gun") Cohen, who was aboard the ship returning from Singapore where he had been on an important secret mission for the Chinese Government. . . . The ship sent out an SOS which brought a British destroyer and plane to the scene, and the ship was able to proceed to port without further incident. . . . Rabbi De Sola Pool is putting in considerable effort helping Italian Jewish refugees. . . . Latest arrivals in this latter category are the two young sons of former Admiral Sinigaglia, one of the first victims of the Italian racial laws. . . . The Republican National Committee was plenty worried about being brought into the Dies committee hearings on the anti-Semitic coat-tails of that James Campbell fellow. . . . They sent out reams of very convincing material proving their freedom from prejudice to Jews throughout the country, particularly those listed in Who's Who in American Jewry.

Seeks Jewish Good Will

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—The Sons of Italy Grand Lodge, Italian fraternal order with 200 branches throughout New York State, has established a bureau here to foster good will between Italians and Jews, it was announced by Grand Master Dr. Santo Modica.

Miss C. Razovsky Is Powerless; Brother of Feuchtwanger Refugee

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
HAVANA—Lawrence Berenson and Miss Cecilia Razovsky, New York Jewish leaders who came here in a vain effort to obtain permission for landing of 907 refugees from the German liner St. Louis, left for the United States.

The French steamship Flandre sailed for France with ninety-six German Jews twice barred from landing here. The Flandre cleared the harbor after efforts by Jewish leaders to obtain a two-hour delay pending attempts to raise funds to make possible the refugees' landing.

Heywood Broun wrote in his syndicated column: "If suddenly the vessel flashed an S. O. S. to indicate that the crew and the 900 passengers were in danger every other steamer within call would go hurrying to the rescue. That is the rule of the sea. . . . It would be better for them by far if the St. Louis had ripped its plates in a collision with some other craft, or if an impersonal iceberg had slashed the hull below the water line. . . . But this is not an iceberg or a plate which has been ripped away. The passengers—men, women and children—are Jewish. It is not an accident of nature but an inhuman equation which has put them in deadly peril. . . . And so the whole world stuffs its ears and pays no attention to any wireless."

in the Dominican Republic had failed, the Cuban government demanding that the ship leave immediately.

Pathetic scenes marked the departure of the refugees, who had been twice rejected by Cuba and once by Mexico. Hundreds of friends and relatives stood on the pier in a heavy rain to bid farewells to the passengers. A man and his wife, both over 70, shouted from the deck to their two Cuban-born grandchildren, aged 8 and 10 years, whom they had never seen before. "We won't die before we see you," they cried. Among the refugees on the Flandre was Fritz Feuchtwanger, a brother of Lion Feuchtwanger, the famous writer, with his wife and two daughters.

The Cuban government had rejected a proffered guarantee of more than $500,000 for the approximately 1,100 refugees aboard the steamers St. Louis, Flandre and Orduna, and permitted only six of the Flandre's 102 passengers to land when the ship arrived in port. President Federico Laredo Bru sent a cable to the Joint Distribution Committee rejecting the committee's cabled appeal for reconsideration of the case on the basis of the funds deposited. The guarantees had been asked by the government before it suddenly withdrew its offer to give the refugees temporary asylum on the Isle of Pines.

Now that summer weather has arrived, people have begun to plan outings at the various parks and swimming pools in the city. The most convenient way to reach these points of interest is by street car, trackless trolley or bus.

The transit lines of Indianapolis Railways either touch or run within a few blocks of all public parks in the city limits. It is only a few minutes' ride from your home via trolley or bus to your nearest park.

By planning to go on your outing by trolley or bus, it is possible to avoid all the traffic and parking problems that driving your own automobile entail. In addition, you can ride more economically on transit vehicles.

The information service department of Indianapolis Railways, phone Riley 1571, will gladly tell you what lines to take in order to reach the various parks. Also, they will tell you when the next car is due at your nearest corner. This information service is available each day for your convenience. Just call Riley 1571.

Take a trolley or bus for your next outing. You'll enjoy the cool, refreshing ride and arrive carefree and ready for your swim, picnic, golf game or outing.

Prospect—Now that you have shown me that your car will do better than ninety miles an hour, will such a car last?

Dealer—Don't let that worry you, sir. Anyone who drives ninety miles an hour will not need any car long.

Ehe Editor's Chair:

Did you ever stop to think how intolerant we Jews are? I first was struck by this thought when, Sunday night, one of the men whom I think has been so unjustly maligned, in talking about another Jewish leader, said, "There's the biggest anti-Semite in the United States." I laughed more than anything else and just passed off the remark. A few days later I ran into the person in question, and he started right off by saying, "I saw you talking to — the other night; he's the community's worst enemy."

Did you ever listen to a Zionist characterize a non-Zionist, much less an anti-Zionist? Did you ever hear an Orthodox Jew rail against a Reformed Jew? Or a Reform Jew ridicule an Orthodox Jew? Or a member of this shul berate that shul? Or a poor Jew talk about a rich Jew? Or a conservative Jew classify a liberal Jew?

We Jews form a world of our own—and what a world! Tolerance is so important to us, yet we practice intolerance as if it were life itself. Negroes, like Jews, are a downtrodden minority, yet Jews offer the same unreasonable prejudice against them as do too many Gentiles. How a Jew can inflict injustice on a member of another minority is really hard to visualize, yet in so many cases Jews actually step on and vindictively punish Negroes, as if they get a certain joy in making others suffer.

Don't get me wrong. Everybody is full of prejudices and intolerance. And Jews are part of that "everybody." The only thing is, that Jews should know better. They should be the kindest, most forgiving, most just people in the world. And some of them are. The trouble is to find them.

Harry Traugott and John Efronson plan to leave the first of July for a trip to Europe. They will sail from New York on the Queen Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sachs, who were married recently, were entertained by Mrs. Sach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goldstein, on Wednesday evening, at which time the couple cut their wedding cake. About twenty-five friends and relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cohen have as their house guest, Mrs. David Komnotskye of Saranton, Pa. Mrs. Komnotskye, who is Mrs. Cohen's aunt, will spend several weeks here.

Will The Prophetic Utterances Be Cut Off?

Will The Prophetic Utterances Be Cut Off?

MEETING in Washington, D. C., is the Central Conference of American Rabbis, the most important body of rabbis since the days of Sanhedron. Rabbinical associations of Western Europe, these and all others since the days of the famous Sanhedron, pale in significance to the C. C. A. R. The C. C. A. R.'s short history has been studded with prophetic resolutions and decisions. As liberal a group as has ever been convoked, the utterances of the body have also been marked by extreme courage and fortitude. Unhesitatingly, the C. C. A. R. has espoused causes which at the time because of their seeming radical tendency, were considered outside the periphery of a rabbinical discussion.

To the C. C. A. R. must go the credit for the sustaining background of many of our reform rabbis. Without the underlying strength and encouragement of this body, many of our most resourceful rabbis would have hesitated to have made the utterances in behalf of social advancement they have made in the past few years.

Addressing the body at its 1938 meeting in Atlantic City, Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath of Toronto, deplored the fact that rabbinical leaders "who cling tenaciously to these ideals of social justice are mocked and rebuked by those whose only intimation that they are Jewish springs from their agonizing cowardly terror of the anti-Semite." At the same meeting, Rabbi James G. Heller, of Cincinnati, Ohio, declared that "the more ignorant the more Jewishly anemic a generation becomes, the more valiantly must the independence and the sacred obligations of the rabbi be preserved not for his but for Jewry's sake."

Strong words these. But true. Already a growing cautiousness among the lay readers whose spiritual leaders these rabbis are, is demanding less forthright declarations and more diplomacy. Judging by past performances, the prophetic voice of the Reform rabbis meeting in convention will not be stilled. Evidence of this is seen in the appointment last year of a committee of five rabbis to investigate cases in which congregations attempt to oust rabbis because of their "courageous espousal of ethical or religious principles."

There we have it. Courageous rabbis and phlegmatic lay people. So it always has been. American and world Jewry are fortunate in the caliber to its present-day spiritual leadership.

There Must Be An Understanding

THERE must be an understanding in American Jewish life that what the anti-Semite says or does must not rule what the Jew says or does. Too often the criterion of a move or statement is judged not by its merit but by what others will think. This is the way to intellectual suicide.

In criticizing Rabbi Morris Lazaron for his letter to the New York Times, Rabbi Abraham Feldman, editor of The Jewish Ledger, of Hartford, Conn., points out (see Current Comment on this page) that the letter was made use of by Father Coughlin in his Sunday radio address. That Father er Coughlin or any other anti-Semite used the letter should not militate against it. That Father Coughlin or any other anti-Semite quoted from a speech by this Jewish leader, or denounced the action of that Jewish group, should be no criterion whatsoever.

There must be an understanding in the American Jewish community that whatever anti-Semites choose to pick from what Jewish people have done or said should have no bearing upon the validity and worth of the thing done or said. This is a clear principle and should not be difficult to follow. Then let it be understood.

Current Comment

Abraham Cohen Writes a Letter To The Philadelphia Record.—I am an American of the Jewish faith. My name is Abraham Cohen, which is as American as Murphy, Salvatore, Brzezowski or Schmaltz.

I am opposed to Communism and Fascism.

I have as much legal and moral right to live here, and to enter upon and advance in a trade, business or profession as any of the Catholic, Protestant or Mohammedan faith—as much right as any American whose parents or grandparents were born in Ireland, England, Poland, France, Germany or Italy. (More than the last two possibly, as so many of them pledge first allegiance to Hitler or Mussolini instead of to America—whereas I have but one possible allegiance).

If any other Jew becomes a swindler, thug or Communist, it is no special concern of mine—except that, as an American, I do not like to see any other American do these things.

I do not feel personally responsible for the individual acts of any other persons of my faith—any more than do the Irish in America for Jimmy Hines, the Italians for Capone, Musica or Petrillo; the Germans for Hauptmann.

I intend to go along exercising the rights, privileges and responsibilities of an American. I do not have to ask anybody's permission, nor must I apologize for anything. And if anyone tries to stop me, I'll fight him!

Rabbi Abraham Feldman, Editor of The Jewish Ledger of Hartford, Conn., Answers a Letter Written to The New York Times by His Colleague, Rabbi Morris Lazaron.—Two weeks ago a rabbi in Baltimore took upon himself to publish a letter in the New York Times and in other newspapers, in which he urged the Jews to accept the British White Paper and proceeded to lecture the Zionists on the subject of nationalism, secularism and universalism.

We have received many requests to comment on that editorial because it created a great deal of resentment in the Jewish community and—we are told—has been used by the anti-Semite at Royal Oak in one of his radio addresses (we did not hear it) to the disadvantage of our people.

Freedom of the Press

An Appeal

To the Editor:

I am a young refugee from Germany, and married, and I have a large six-room home. I would like to take care of some children whose parents are away on vacation, or any adult persons who need good care. In Germany I was a trained nurse, and I am an expert in care of children, since I have a son of my own.

My husband was a physician in Germany.

I hope some of your readers may need the service I have to offer, and I am taking the liberty to write you in hopes that you will print my letter.

Thanking you, I am

A REFUGEE'S WIFE.
